GOV. BLACK WANTS

PRIMARY LAW KEPT

But Those Who Want Old Convention Plan Will Make Hard Fight

Louisville, Ky., August 30.—The primary election system of Kentucky, provided Gov. James D. Black has his way.

During his stay in Louisville yesterday he called on Thomas S. Rhea, Democratic campaign chairman, and the two discussed the coming platform convention.

To a representative of The Courier-Journal, Gov. Black said he had no particular recommendation to make regarding the convention.

Advocates of the convention system are going to make a hard fight to get a plank urging abandonment of the primary into the Democratic platform. It is understood. They oppose the primary system on the ground that it is much more expensive to the candidate seeking a nomination.

They argue that the old-fashioned Democratic convention goes a long way toward bringing Democrats from all parts of the state into close touch and that nominees of the convention are scattered over greater territory, resulting in practically every section of the state being represented on the ticket.

Among those still insisting that United States Senator A. O. Stanley be given a prominent part in the convention programme is Thomas Hatcher, Pikeville, appointed by Senator Stanley as a member of the state board of control. Mr. Hatcher would have Senator Stanley made temporary chairman and Senator J. C. W. Beckham, permanent chairman.

FIFTY TOWNS ON THE PRESIDENT'S SPEAKING TOUR

Washington, August 30.—The itinerary of President Wilson's speaking tour around the circle, with addresses in behalf of the peace treaty in nearly fifty of the principal cities of the country is expected to be announced tomorrow.

It was definitely announced today that the president will leave as soon as arrangements are made, and probably within ten days, and will spend twenty-five days in laying before the American people his reasons for desiring the immediate ratification of the treaty without change. Although the president desired to greet General Pershing on his arrival in New York early next month, it may be necessary to forego that welcome, as the president considers his tour to explain the treaty of more importance. The president is billed to speak in Sioux City, Minneapolis, Bismarck, Billings and Helena, and then swing down the Pacific coast states to San Francisco, coming home by the southern route and making addresses.

Secretary Tamm, in announcing the president's plans, said the president felt that the speech-making tour was of greater importance than possibly he would greet General Pershing somewhere in the West, probably at St. Louis, as the general plans to go to his old home in Missouri soon after returning from overseas.

There will be an ice cream supper given at Goshen church next Saturday night for the benefit of the church. Everybody invited to attend.

GAZERS HIGH

The philosophers tell us that it is always best to keep our eyes turned upward and hither our wagon to a star, and though it may be best, it is not always safest, especially if that star be an aeroplane as was demonstrated at the fairgrounds Saturday. Because two curious old souls were bent on looking heavenward, one suffers a skinned and perhaps broken nose and the other various bruised and aching spots.

Two good old people from the hills heard last week that one of the strange bird men would give a demonstration of his ability with wings at the fairgrounds, so Saturday the two were there, all keyed up with expectancy, all taut with the agony of suspense. They stationed themselves on the levee at its most precipitous point, where it was impossible for the huge bird to wing its way across the grounds without them getting the best view. They waited, and the moments dragged into hours seemingly. At last they heard the whirr of engines, then the steady buzz of the propeller and somewhere up above they knew the object they looked upward into the azure of their wonder was flying. Autumn sky, flecked as it was with hazy amber clouds and showered with the gold of the setting sun. Their vision was dimmed by the bright light of the afternoon and unconsciously they crowded nearer to the edge of the levee. At last, scanning the sunlit distances, they spied a wee small speck which grew larger as it approached, then took on a definite shape, like a great dragon fly with whirling pinions, smoke issuing from between its teeth, and the sound of its engines like the rush of the coming storm. They were all astrail. Trying to crowd closer to catch a better glimpse they went over the levee, both man and woman, and encountered the crumpled rocks below. In the midst of attempting to free themselves from the weeds, dust and broken rocks, they lost sight of the twentieth century wonder which had now flown far away. They picked themselves up, a sadder and wiser couple.

STEAMER W. W. HAS BEEN SENT TO LOUISIANA RIVER

The Steamer W. W. which was recently sold by Frank Rounds to the Ouchita River Navigation Co., of Monroe, La., has departed for its new home. The boat is under command of Captain G. A. Holloway, of Louisiana. Captain Rounds accompanies the boat as far as Evansville as pilot. Mr. L. J. Martin, engineer, C. Johnson and Guy Bug, of the crew are also making the trip to the South.

With the departure of the W. W. Owensboro is left without a single steamboat of any size. Neither are there at the present time any boats making this city their port that the Steamer Hazel Rice now in call. It was reported recently that Kentucky river trade had been purchased to be placed in the Green river trade out of Owensboro, but it is now understood that the deal has not yet been closed.

AVIATOR DROWNED IN AERIAL DERBY

Minneapolis, N. Y., August 30.—Eleven American entrants in the international aerial derby had completed the thousand mile flight to Toronto and return when darkness and storms on the route from Albany put an end to further arrivals tonight. Six arrived between 5:30 and 8 o'clock. Eight of the thirteen airmen who started at Toronto end of the journey had completed the round trips tonight. Interest in race, however, is overshadowed by the news of probable fate of Lieut. H. G. Slater, who is believed to have perished in Lake Ontario. No trace has been found of the aviator.

County Democratic Convention Saturday

The Democrats of Ohio County met in mass convention at the Court House in Hartford, on Saturday, August 30th, 1919, pursuant to the call of the State Central and Executive Committee, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the State Democratic Convention to be held in Louisville on Thursday, September 4th. The Convention was called to order by the Chairman of the County Executive Committee, Prof. Oza Shultz, who explained the purpose of the meeting and asked for nominations for permanent officers of the convention. Thereupon Prof. Shultz was elected permanent Chairman and McDowell A. Fogle permanent Secretary of the Convention. Upon motion by Judge W. H. Barnes, duly seconded and carried, a Committee upon resolutions was appointed as follows:

Judge James S. Glenn, Messrs. F. P. Bell, L. B. Tichenor, Erk Fulkerson and Clarence Patton. The following resolutions were reported, on behalf of the Committee, by its Chairman, Judge Glenn.

The Democrats of Ohio County in Convention assembled do declare:

1. We endorse the action of the State Committee in calling this Convention and the State Convention.

2. We endorse the administration of Governor A. O. Stanley, and its efficient conduct of public offices.

3. We heartily commend the zeal, fidelity and devotion to the Senators from Kentucky, J. C. W. Beckham and A. O. Stanley and our Representative from this District, the Hon. Ben Johnson.

4. We unreservedly endorse and approve the National Administration under President Woodrow Wilson, and point to the following accomplishments of a Democratic Administration during his term of office:

It has established our monetary system on a firm and substantial basis that is proof against Wall Street and Bankers' Panics and that automatically furnishes an elastic currency, every dollar of which is as good as gold, sufficient to conduct the business of the Nation, and has removed from the arena of party politics the money question, a system so perfect that even a Republican can find no criticism of it and that has stood unshaken during four years of the greatest and most destructive war of all history.

It has enacted a Land Loan system that is of inestimable benefit to the farmers of the Nation in furnishing money to buy and improve their farms, at an exceedingly low rate of interest and on easy payments, thus saving them from the ruinous interest of the money sharks and foreclosure and loss in case of bad crops or sickness and misfortune.

It has given Agriculture a new life by the Department of Agriculture and the live man at its head and the system of Farm Demonstrators.

It has given labor the eight hour law, thus enabling him to have some leisure time for his family and for self-improvement. It has raised the standard of living and the moral tone of those who work in the mines, factories and fields. In eighteen months it fought to a successful finish the greatest war in the history of the World Absolutism that sought to enslave and hurled back the rising tide of the world and established a new Declaration of Independence, embracing all nations.

With a standing army of less than 100,000 men, in the short period of eighteen months, it organized and equipped an army of 4,000,000 soldiers and, in spite of the unknown perils of 3,000 miles of fathomless ocean and the lurking horrors of the murderous submarine, threatening every foot of the way, it transported safely 2,000,000 fighting men to the shores of France, an accomplishment that was and is the wonder of the world. These things it did in the face of a bitter, unreasoning criticism by some of the Republican leaders and papers, though the great mass of that party gave loyal support, as became patriotic Americans.

It has enacted a National Prohibition law, thus placing the welfare and happiness of the men, women and children of the nation above commercialism.

Believing that the real interests of all peoples are best subserved by peace that is world-wide, we commend the efforts of our President to have established a League of Nations to enforce peace, believing it to be a step in the right direction and in accordance with the teachings of the Prince of Peace.

The following Delegates and Alternates were selected to represent Ohio County at the State Convention to be held in Louisville on Thursday, the 4th, inst., viz:

Delegates: Rowan Holbrook, J. S. Glenn, E. L. Bennett, F. P. Murphy, T. J. Brooks, R. C. Stewart, O. Fogle, R. D. Robertson, S. W. Maples, G. N. Baize, T. N. Daniel, Andrew Alford, W. B. ## AUTO TURNS OVER

Paul Hawkins and wife were severely injured last week when an auto in which they were riding was turned turtle in a ditch. They were riding along beside an embankment and Mrs. Hawkins was driving when she suddenly lost control of the machine and it ran up a bank, turning over, plunging its occupants beneath. Mr. Hawkins was considerably bruised as the windshield fell across his limbs. Mrs. Hawkins was only slightly injured.

MACCABEE PICNIC AT WILLIAMS GROVE LABOR DAY

The Women's benefit association of the Maccabees gave a picnic at the grove at Williams mines Monday, in honor of the returned soldiers and sailors. A sumptuous dinner was served and there was a large crowd present. A brass band and a string band furnished good music throughout the day and there were two ball games played in the afternoon, McHenry and Echols, or the L. G. & E. team, in which McHenry came out the winner and then McHenry crossed bats with Beaver Dam and was defeated to the tune of seven to two. All kinds of refreshment were to be had on the ground. This picnic was quite a success and speaks for the ability of the McHenry Ladies and for the lodge.

SAV MODESTY WILL

PREVAIL IN DANCING

New York, August 30.—Modesty and respectability will prevail in dancing from now on, according to the official forecast at the second annual convention of the American National Association of Masters of Dancing, held here today. Three hundred members from all parts of the United States and Canada attended and Fenton Bott, president of the association, voiced the prediction.

"The old waltz is coming back," he said, "and there will be no new dances, only a few modification. For instance, ladies who have been pushed backward over the ballroom floor too much will go forward on a fifty-fifty basis with the men."

BASKET DINNER

On the 20th of this month a basket dinner for the benefit of the returned soldiers and sailors will be given at the fairgrounds. The Fair company has offered to donate the use of the fairgrounds and furnish the tables. A local Cross lecturer from the front will lecture as well as a Salvation army canten worker. A local organization of the American Legion will be affected that day. The public is invited to be present and bring baskets. An aeroplane will probably be here and make a flight. Come out and help by bringing well filled baskets.

FAIR LAST WEEK

The Ohio County Fair came to a close Saturday after three days of interesting meetings of people and three days of a well-carried out program. The races were good, the floral hall exhibits were above the average and the aeroplane flight, in which many citizens took part, was an event within itself. A number of Ohio County's "land-lubbers" became airmen to the tune of a ten dollar bill, and all seemed to enjoy it. The first two days the rain cut down the attendance to some extent but the last day it was far above the average.

BRO SNELL AT OLATON

(Special to Herald)
Rev. M. G. Snell, of Centertown, is holding a meeting at the Baptist church at this place with fine results. He has done some fine preaching and is loved by all the people here, both saint and sinner. We are having the best meeting that's been here for a long time. Bro. Snell was called home Friday to preach a funeral but arrived back Saturday night.

FINE CHICKENS

Mrs. Leslie Combs, of near town, has one of the finest flocks of chickens in the county. She has in all over four hundred in the flock, all of the purest strain and fat enough to make gravy for a king's dinner. Mrs. Combs devotes a great deal of care and attention to the raising of poultry and has been remarkably successful.

MR. WILL NEWBOLT DEAD

Word has been received here of the death of Mr. Will Newbolt who has been making his home in Tulsa, Okla., for two years but who formerly lived here. No particulars have been learned except that his death was due to a relapse with Typhoid fever. He died Saturday night and will be buried in Tulsa.

TOBACCO MUCH BETTER THAN FIRST EXPECTED

Weed Has Come Out Wonderfully Since July and Will Exceed 1918 Crop

Tobacco growers are enthusiastic over the improvement which has been shown in tobacco here during the last month, and especially since the fine rain of a couple of weeks ago. Farmers now predict not only exceed last year's crop in yield but the crop this year will size, but will also be of better quality.

It was at first feared that the recent rain would damage the color of the tobacco, but it does not seem to have been sufficient to cause the dark, green second growth which farmers feared. The weed was on the other hand wonderfully improved in color and was given further weight.

Cutting is becoming rather general throughout the country at present, but most farmers will not start cutting until next month. Farmers around Curdsville, Sorgho and along the Henderson road are beginning to cut. The tobacco has suffered more in that section of the county than elsewhere. In the eastern part of the county the crop is in splendid condition while Hancock county is said to have fully as good a crop this year as has Daviess county, which is rather unusual.

Farmers and tobacco men are beginning to speculate on what the price of tobacco will be when the local market opens. The general opinion seems to be that the prices for the better grade of tobacco will be as high, if not higher, than they were last year and that the price of poor and medium grades will be off.

This opinion is borne out by reports from the North and South Carolina markets. Good tobacco on the eastern markets is said to be selling this year fully as high as last season. Poor and medium grades have, however, undergone a decided slump being down, it is said, about $10 on the hundred. Prices in the North Carolina market are usually taken as an indication of what prices may be here, as when the prices are high there the tobacco buyers usually buy heavier in this section to substitute for the Carolina weed.

A number of local tobacco buyers are now in North Carolina. Among these are Cecil Clarkson and William Hartford, W. M. Jones, Jack Griffith and Robert Clark, buyers for the Winstead company and Clyde Bell and David Clark, buyers for the Imperial company.

FINE TOBACCO PATCH

Esquire Leslie Combs, who lives south of town, has one of the best fields of tobacco that it has been our pleasure to see this season. He has in all about ten acres in one field and his plants are of such evenness as to give the impression that one is looking over a level floor of black-green. The tobacco has been cultivated intensely and shows the effect of good farming. Mr. Combs estimates that the field will average over eighteen hundred pounds to the acre. He is cutting and housing the weed this week. The uniform size of the stalks and the broad heavy leaves impressed us as marking it as the best grade of dark tobacco. Probably there are as good crops in the county as this one but so far we have not seen one.

PRESIDENT'S SWING AROUND STATES IS "MORE IMMINENT"

May Not See Pershing Nor See
First Division March Under
New Plans

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Wilson's proposed trip to the Pacific coast in the interest of the peace treaty is "more imminent that it has been in the last few weeks," in the view of administration officials.

As between going to New York to meet Gen. Pershing or reviewing the 1st Division in Washington as the case may be, and going before the country, it was said by persons close to the President to-day that he would consider the speech making tour of more importance.

Secretary Tumulty was expected tomorrow to discuss with the President the feasibility of making "the swing around the circle" even at the expense of being unable to greet Gen. Pershing or to review the 1st Division.

It is considered probable that the President will decide to leave Washington in time to review the Pacific fleet at San Francisco the middle of September. The date of the fleet review has been postponed twice to coincide with the President's expected arrival on the Pacific coast.

CAVELL EXECUTION LEGAL UNDER MILITARY LAW

Baltimore, August 30.—The execution by the Germans of Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse, which aroused the indignation of the allied world, was in accordance with the laws of "civilized warfare," according to the minority report of the committee on military law of the American Bar association.

"This being so," said S. S. Gregory, of Chicago, chairman of the committee, "it seems quite inconsistent with our condemnation of those who thus took her life to retain in our own system of military justice those provisions of law which were relied upon by the German military authorities in ordering her execution." The mere fact that her trial was attended by the brutality and duplicity, which commonly marked exercise of military power by the German command, does not alter this aspect of the case.

BELGIAN MONARCHS TO START TO U. S. SEPT. 22

Brussels, Sept. 2.—The King and Queen Elizabeth will leave for the United States September 22, and that it is their intention to stay there one month.

At the American embassy, however, it was said to-day that the date of their departure for America had not yet been made known.

Cardinal Mercier, who will leave for the United States September 2 in company with Monsignor De Wachter, his auxiliary bishop, and Prof. De Wulf, will remain there two months.

BREAKFAST FOOD AIDS POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Steuersville, Ohio, August 30.—Notices, candidates!

There is the way a Steuversville candidate for office did it, and here is how he figured:

He purchased enough packages of breakfast food to go round and then had his card placed therein. They were passed from door to door. He figured that when the family ate the corn flakes they would at least feel kindly toward him.

CINCINNATI GRAND JURY INDICTS STORAGE VIOLATORS

Cincinnati, August 30.—Ten indictments charging violation of the state food storage law, were returned by the Hamilton county grand jury today.

Five of the indictments are against Swift & Co., of Cincinnati, and five against William Alexander, butcher of this city. The indictments each contain three counts making a total of thirty counts in all.

BIG FEATURES MARK WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS TODAY

Walter L. Main's Fashion Plate Shows arrived in Clearfield over the Pennsylvania this morning and shortly after daylight the work of unloading and transportation of paraphernalia to the show grounds began under the supervision of the usual army of small boys.

Everything about the outfit was spick and span, the stock was in fine condition and things soon took on an old time hue when the circus wagons marked Walter L. Main commenced trundling over our streets.

Clearfield people have been familiar with the Main circus for the past twenty-five or thirty years and have reason to know that the name Walter L. Main is a guarantee of the very best of the circus line.

The street parade at 12:30 was a very creditable pageant.

The large crowd attracted to the show grounds on Levy Avenue this afternoon were well repaid for their trouble and were privileged to witness one of the best circus performances seen in Clearfield in many years. Mr. Main has gathered together a highly creditable aggregation and everyone in this afternoon's large audience was more than pleased with the high character of the performance and the general conduct of the show throughout.

All the old-fashioned features were given and the different performances were up-to-date in every particular.

Some of the Main features which attracted more than ordinary interest were Dottie Snyder and her troupe of trained elephants; Hollis DeMott and Walcott, the three world's champion bareback somersault riders; Etta Myer and her posing horses; death-defying aerial acts and big wild west show. The usual array of clowns were on hand to delight the kiddos and the entire performance was all that could be desired.

The show is clean and moral, no gambling or other objectionable features being allowed on the grounds. Another big crowd will attend this evening's performance.

To show their hearts were in the right place, the management offered exclusive and free Liberty Loan advertising for the parade.

HOME AFTER SPENDING $50,000,000 IN A. E. F.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Maj. Jackson Morris, Pineville, Va., served as disbursing quartermaster at the advanced general headquarters in France, Germany, following signing of the armistice, arrived in Washington to-day.

He landed in New York Friday on the transport Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, after having been overseas a year.

During the time that Maj. Morris was on duty with the American expeditionary forces he disbursed upward of $50,000,000. He was formerly secretary to former Gov. Augustus E. Wilson and held other State offices.

KENTUCKY MARINE IS DECORATED FOR VALOR

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 2.—Theodore Keller, Lexington, formerly Sergeant in the 5th Marines, was this afternoon awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by Lieut. E. C. Royce, in charge of recruiting in Kentucky and Indiana for the Marine Corps, for conspicuous gallantry in battle.

Following is the citation that accompanied the medal:

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Barleourt, France, November, 1918, working through three desperate counter attacks of the enemy, Sergt. Keller established a liaison with the adjacent division, maintaining contact with his flanks at all times, despite the hazard under which he worked."

EAGER TO GET HOME, CUTS ARTERY AT DOOR

In his eagerness to open a door at the home of his aunt last night, Robert A. Trompeter, 2135 South Floyd street, 20 years old, pushed his arm through the glass and severed an artery.

He was attended by Dr. John M. Keane, 1226 South Shelby street, and was later taken to the city hospital, but was not admitted.

He said he preferred to go to his home.

WON'T REACH EAR

The Lexington Herald paragrapher says his chief objection to paying $6 for a silk shirt is that a fellow has to stuff so much of the joyous thing into his "britches" where nobody gets any benefit. Shows what he knows about it. A silk shirt that costs only $6 wouldn't reach to his "britches."

DEPOSITS IN CAMP BANKS GROW IN SIZE AND NUMBER

In six days 1,136 soldiers deposited $122,488.18 in the Camp Taylor bank and 1,020 men put $120,478 into the Camp Sherman bank for safe keeping. Average deposits were $107 and $118 respectively.

A steadily increasing percentage of discharged men are availing themselves of the camp-banking facilities which are provided by the Red Cross, the government and the American Bankers' Association. Approximately one-fourth of all men discharged in these two camps deposit money in the banks before starting home.

"Mrs. Keach Tells How She Got to Know Rat-Snap."

"Have always feared rats. Lately noticed many on my farm. A neighbor said he just got rid of droves with RAT-SNAP. This started me thinking. Tried RAT-SNAP myself. It killed 17 and scared the rest away." RAT-SNAP comes in three sizes, 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold and guaranteed by

J. S. Casebier & Co., and Taylor Drug Store, Beaver Dam; Walker Myrtle, Horse Branch; Acton Bros., and Williams & Duke, Hartford, Ky.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by Local Applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an in- flamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or im- perfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous sur- face. Hall's Catarrh Medicine gets thru the blood on the mucous surface of the ear.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 15c.

BAKER ASKS $8,000,000 TO COMPLETE CAMP SITES

Washington, August 30.—Legislation under which the war department could expend $8,000,000 from funds already appropriated for the purchase of camp sites and the completion of construction now under way at the camps was recommended to congress today by Secretary Baker.

The secretary said this legislation was made necessary because the last army appropriation bill prohibited the department from acquiring additional real estate.

Of this amount $1,800,000 is asked for Camp Knox, in Kentucky.

CITY'S HIGH TITLE

Cuban Capital Given Long Name, by Royal Decree.

Has Been Considerably Shortened to Habana, but That Was Not Its Appellation in 1634—Place Had Remarkable Growth.

The full name of the capital of Cuba is San Cristobal de la Habana. In 1634 a royal decree conferred upon the city the sounding title, "Ciudad del Nuevo Mundo y Antemural de las Indias Occidentales" which signifies "Key of the New World and Bulwark of the West Indies." In emphasis, the coat of arms of the municipality bears a symbolic key and representations of the fortresses of Morro, Panto and Fuerza.

Habana is one of the several towns founded by the governor, Diego Velazquez. He placed it upon the south coast, where the town of Batabano now stands. It was shortly removed to its present position and rapidly it grew to be the chief center of the island and one of the most important places in the new world. La Fuerza, the oldest fortification in the city, was erected near the close of the sixteenth century. Shortly afterward, Philip the Second of Spain ordered the construction of the Punta and Morro forts, for the protection of the harbor, and at about the same time the official residence of the governor of the island was transferred from Santiago de Cuba to Habana.

In 1650, the population of Habana was hardly more than three thousand, but in the following two or three decades it doubled, owing to a large immigration of Spaniards from Jamaica. During this period, the city rose to be the commercial center of the Spanish-American possessions, and the principal rendezvous of the royal fleets that carried on the trade monopoly between Spain and America. The walls enclosing the city were commenced in 1671 and finished 30 years later.

A map of the city at the beginning of the nineteenth century strikingly illustrates its rapid growth. Then the residences were almost all intramural, or within the walls. Large estancias and huertas occupied ground which is now intersected by paved streets and covered with substantial buildings.

The first impression made upon the visitor is of the massive character of the architecture. This characteristic is more pronounced than in any other Latin-American city. The building material generally used is a conglomerate of marine material, which burdens on exposure to the air. It is hewn into great blocks, and so used in construction. Walls are usually covered with stucco or plaster, and colored in a variety of tints. Roofs are either flat, or built of the old Spanish tiles. The effect, which is enhanced by the presence almost everywhere of trees and shrubs, is pleasing in the extreme.

The most interesting portion of Habana is that which formerly lay within the walls. The houses here have for the most part been converted into business purposes, but a few persons still cling to their old homes. Forbes Lindsay, in "Cuba and Her People of Today."

General Townshend's Triumphs. Like a palm tree in the arid stretches through which he fought stands out the affection of Gen. Charles V. F. Townshend to bear to the agents of the allies the Turkish offer of surrender, observed the New York Herald recently. Two years and a half ago, almost to a day, General Townshend and 6,000 men, the remnant of his army of 50,000, ran up the white flag in Kut-el-Amara after a siege of 143 days and surrendered to the Turks, while 40,000 other British soldiers 10 miles away battled ineffectually to break through the Turkish ring to the beleaguered force.

Now General Townshend has obtained his satisfaction. That he, a prisoner of war, should have been selected to carry this fateful message, faithful to all Christendom, as well as to what remains of the Turkish empire, is a unique tribute to a gallant soldier from the government he and those under his command served so faithfully.

New Soldier. Gen. Leonard Wood said at a dinner in Washington:

"A new soldier is apt to be nervous, apt to make mistakes, but this is no sign of cowardice. It soon wears off. A new soldier was having his first experience of night duty. The password was 'discount'."

"As the soldier paced back and forth in the darkness, a black figure suddenly loomed up before him.

"Halt! Who goes there?" he challenged.

"A friend," was the reply.

"Advance friend," said the new soldier. Advance and give the discount."

Missouri Mule Always There.

The Missouri mule was in the war long before the Missouri soldier engaged it. The declaration of war was made for him in 1914, two years and a half before Pershing and the thousands of other Missourians got their orders to wheel into line. He had made a brilliant record there before their appearance. But, according to the London advices, he seems to have felt the impulse of Missouri behind him at the last, for it is written: "The mule shared in the big British advances on the western front this fall and proved his grit and worth by keeping right up with the rapidly advancing artillery. That is a Missouri characteristic."

OLD AND NEW BATTLE NAMES

Hard to Bestow Appropriate Appellations Upon Conflicts Having Wide Fronts.

There seems to have been little trouble in the past in naming battles, although even Waterloo is called Quatre Bras by the French. But on the whole a name seems to have attached itself to a battle quite naturally, like Blenheim, Talavera, Jena, Leipzig, the Nile and Trafalgar.

But in the great war, where a battle extended over weeks of time over a forty-mile front, including many villages, and sometimes several objectives in the shape of big towns, the difficulty of naming a battle with a name that is universally recognized is extreme.

The names which have actually settled down completely and taken their places in history are the battle of the Marne, the two battles of Ypres, the battle of Verdun, the battle of the Somme, the battle of Jutland, the battle of the Somme, and that seems almost all.

The battles of the later phases of the war have hardly settled down to a name yet. Probably the battle in which the Vimy ridge was stormed will be known as Arras; but the battle of Messines will probably be a sticker, just as the Chemin des Dames will live in French annals for all time.

Perhaps the great battle which at the time seemed disastrous to British arms, commencing on March 21, 1918, will go down to history as the battle of Amiens, while the battle of Cambrai may stand for all that heroic recovery which brought the British to their final victory.

GOT WEARY OF "FLU" TALK

Visitor to Indianapolis Very Much Fed Up With Conversation Relating to the Epidemic.

L. B. Andrus of Grand Rapids, Mich., chief of the Merchants Heat and Light company, is laboring under the impression that some "Hoosier flu" was trailing him Wednesday evening.

While taking dinner at a hotel he was surrounded by delegates to the casket manufacturers' convention. After hearing them discuss their business, which discussion naturally had many references to the influenza epidemic, he concluded it was no place for him.

As the evening rolled on, he began debating with himself the question whether the epidemic was going to get him, so he decided to take a Turkish bath. He had only been there a short time when a sick-looking individual came in, and in a conversation with Mr. Andrus said that he had only recently got over a severe case of the influenza, and he had been advised that a Turkish bath would get the poison out of his system and assist him to recover more rapidly.

When he was talking with this man, another man came in sneezing and coughing and inquired of Mr. Andrus whether he thought a Turkish bath would prevent a fellow from getting a bad case of the influenza.

By this time Andrus said to the attendant: "Get me out of here as quickly as possible. I have given about as much time as I care to presiding at the flu conference in Indianapolis."—Indianapolis News.

President to Get Rare Book. An ancient book has been sent to President Wilson by Postmaster General Tordt of Florence who is a collector of rare manuscripts. The book is a rare edition of the life of Christopher Columbus and was written by Fernandez, a son of the discoverer of America, and was published at Venice in 1571. Plans had been made to have the book presented to President Wilson on Columbus day.

Wonder What Poe Got for It. Quite a while ago an author, Edgar Allan Poe, contributed a story to Graham's Library of Fiction, No. 1. But it hardly occurred to him that some day a collector would pick up an old copy of that periodical for 25 cents and presently sell it to somebody else for $1,000. Probably it is just as well that it did not, for the knowledge might have disconcerted him with his own modest emolument for writing a classic.

$216 for a Thackeray Letter. A sale of autographs and manuscripts was held at New York recently. Charles Scribner's Sons paid the top price, $216, for catalogue No. 231, a letter of William M. Thackeray to John Oxenford, asking him to come to a dinner in celebration of the completion of "Vanity Fair." The total for the sale was $2,752.45.

The Lives of a Cat. A mother had two sons, one in France, the other attending a university near home. The son in France was wounded and naturally the mother felt grieved over the incident, and being of an excitable nature, telephoned her other son: "John, come home at once. Ted is at the front being killed every minute."

Unreadable Signatures. General Pershing recently gave orders that the typewriter signature be required hereafter on all official orders and endorsements by American military men in France because of the fact so many officers wrote their names "so blindly that it is difficult to make them out." General Pershing purposes to write no time in deciphering written signatures.

FRENCH KING FIRST IN FIELD

Writings of Thomas Paine Show That Henry IV Once Contemplated League of Nations.

While President Wilson, Lloyd George and other statesmen are talking of a league of nations the following, taken from Thomas Paine's "The Rights of Man," is historical:

"It was attributed to Henry IV of France, a man of an enlarged and benevolent heart, that he purposed about 1610 a plan of abolishing war in Europe. The plan consisted in constructing an European congress, or, as French authors style it, a pacific republic; by appointing delegates from the several nations, who were to act as a court of arbitration in any disputes that might arise between nation and nation.

"Had the plan been adopted at the time it was proposed the taxes of England and France, as two of the parties, would have been at least ten millions sterling annually to each nation less than they were at the commencement of the French Revolution."

There is also part of a letter addressed to Lafayette from Paine, February 9, 1792:

"If you make a campaign the ensuing spring, which is most probable there will be no occasion for, I will come and join you. Should the campaign commence, I hope it will terminate in the extinction of German despotism and establishing the freedom of all Germany. When France shall be surrounded with revolutions she will be in peace and safety and her taxes, as well as those of Germany, will consequently become less."

LAWS PRINTED IN GERMAN

How the State of Indiana Catered to the Teuton Element in the Fifties and Sixties.

Time was when the Indiana general assembly directed that its laws be printed in German as well as in English—but never more, observes the Indianapolis News.

In 1852 the legislature enacted a statute that its laws passed at that session should be printed in German and one copy distributed to each of the clerks of the judicial circuits. By joint resolutions of the senate and house the session laws of the special session of 1855, the regular session of 1859, the regular session of 1861, the special session of 1861, and the regular session of 1867 were printed in the German language. The revised statutes of 1883 were ordered printed in German.

Mrs. Edward Franklin White of the law editorial department of the Bobbs-Merrill company, believes the printing of the acts in German was no part of the propaganda for "kultnr," which has been so exposed of late, but she rather believes that Indiana was making a special bid for settlement by Germans along with other foreigners who were westward bent. She says all sorts of inducements were held out in the fifties and sixties to attract colonization in Indiana and elites, as another of the inducements, the lax constitutional provisions (constitution of 1852) for obtaining citizenship, or at least the right to vote.

Civilization Fatal to Eskimo. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, to whom the Charles P. Daly medal was presented by the American Geographical society for his "valuable contributions to science," pleaded that no efforts be made to civilize the Eskimo tribes of the far North. All such previous efforts, he stated, had resulted disastrously for the natives. One tribe of 5,000 discovered in 1825 by an English explorer, he said, was now reduced to only 40 persons through adoption of a civilized mode of living, which was unsuitable for the frigid climate.

Vehicle Market in Siam.

Owing to the low-lying and often inundated plains of southern Siam, in which most of the rice farming is done and in which road making is difficult, and also the fact that transportation is easily afforded by the numerous canals which traverse the country in every direction, there is not likely to be any extended demand for farm wagons or other vehicles for the use of the Siamese farmer. It seems, however, that considerable attention will be given to road making in Siam's principal cities, notably in Bangkok, and that therefore a line of municipal vehicles will be needed in the near future.

Didn't Come On.

In the heifer of a little church in France the Germans placed a bomb connected with wires to the monstrance on the altar. The idea was that when the monstrance was moved the resultant explosion would bring the church down upon the heads of the worshippers. Fortunately Marshal Foch's little paragraph in his armistice terms, to wit, that German commanders would be held personally responsible for all damage done by infernal machines, prevented this characteristically Teuton performance from coming off.—Hochester Post-Express.

Rescued by Mother-in-Law.

William Olive of Bridgeport, after putting a new roof on a dog house in his yard, was afraid the dog would get on the nails sticking through, and crawled in to clutch them on the inside. When he had finished the job he found that his cat was caught on a nail and he couldn't get out. He made all the noise he could, and finally, after a long while, his mother-in-law heard him.—Boston Globe.

Not a Modern Gun.

"What were you going to do with this revolver?" asked Walter Pritchard, judge of city court.

"Shoot rabbits," replied Abe McMurray, colored, age seventeen, 356 Fayette street, who was on trial charged with carrying concealed weapons.

The judge examined the weapon, which was a small one, and noticed that the barrel would not revolve automatically. He called the defendant's attention to this fact, and was told that it would revolve if turned by hand.

The judge still appeared undecided, then finally remarked: "If this was a real gun I would fine you $100 and costs, but since it is only about half a gun I will make the fine just half the usual amount." Then he wrote $50 and costs across the face of the affidavit.—Indianapolis News.

Japanese Activity in Siberia.

Canadian papers are commenting on the activity of the Japanese throughout the maritime province of Siberia. Agents of Japanese syndicates are reported to be negotiating for the purchase of a large number of mines, four mills, brickworks, sawmills and other industrial undertakings, while commercially they are making every effort to extend their influence. The Japanese firms, which for the most part have only recently been established at Vladivostok, are enlarging their operations and endeavoring to obtain as large a share as possible of the trade of the territory. The scouts of these firms are reported to be scouring the country for scrap iron, hides, wool, bristles, beans and other Siberian and Manchurian products required in Japan.

Gas From Wheat Straw.

One of the scientists of the University of Saskatchewan, who has been experimenting for some time with the manufacture of gas from wheat straw, has been able, by a gas bag attachment of 300 cubic feet capacity, to run his motorcar with perfectly satisfactory results. It is estimated, says the Saskatchewan Herald, that a ton of straw will generate 11,000 to 12,000 cubic feet of gas and that 300 cubic feet of gas is equal to a gallon of gasoline, so that with this hitherto waste product on his hands the farmer will be able to run his car.

What Your Neighbors Say.

Beaver Dam, Ky. August 1, 1919.

Messrs. J. D. Williams & Sons.

Beaver Dam, Ky.

Gentlemen: We began using the De Laval separator in May 1918 and to say we are pleased with it is putting it very mild. Never has there been a time since we bought it but what we have received a better price for our butter fat than we did for our butter and two months last winter when good country butter was selling for 40 cents per pound, we were receiving 73 cents per pound for our butter fat and got out of the extra work of churning and marketing our butter.

It is much easier to clean and care for the separator than it is to clean and care for the pans and jars necessary to handle milk in the old way and we get so much more and so much better cream with less work. We wouldn't sell our De Laval at any price if we couldn't get another one.

Yours truly,

VALEDICTORY

With this issue I end my active connection as editor and business manager of the Hartford Herald. For over a year it has been my privilege to occupy this position during which time I have made acquaintances and associations, both business and social, to whom I think I owe this little message of adieu.

It is because of no personal malice or friction with any stockholder or owner of The Herald that causes me to take this step; on the other hand my connection with the paper has always been the most pleasant and the most successful and unity of purpose has existed between me and those I represented. But as I have a business that takes the major part of my time, leaving only a few hours to devote to the paper—during which time I cannot do justice to the work—and feeling that my whole energies should on the whole be devoted to the pursuit of my profession, which is a God-given one—these reasons, I say, constitute the sole grounds for my resignation.

I trust that my work has been satisfactory to you, my readers, upon whose judgment rests the failure or success of any publication. I have endeavored to give you a paper that was a chronicle of local events, with a sufficient admixture of world happenings as to make it of interest to those who have not time nor inclination to wade through the voluminous pages of the dailies. In policy, I have endeavored to pursue the conservative course. I have tried to be outspoken in commendation of what I believed to be right and condemnation of what I believed to be wrong, and no one can accuse me of handling wrong with gloved hands or suppressing rightful and legitimate information. But, believing rabid radicalism as dangerous and unreasoning as ultra-conservatism, I have held aloof from those petty brawls which sometimes characterize the county press, belittling it in the estimation of the public and lessening its influence. In short, I have tried to pursue a course of sane and straightforward reason, appealing to the more sober judgment and more considerate sentiments of my clientele. Whether this has proven the wise or the foolish course, time will tell.

I appreciate beyond the feeble power of words to express the assistance and cooperation my readers have given me. Their help has been invaluable and without them The Herald could not have held the high mark of excellence which has been its boast. I shall still contribute to the paper such essays or articles as are deemed timely or desirable to the readers. I am dealing with the different sections of the country which it may be my good fortune to visit. But as active editorial manager, my work is over. To you I commend my successor, feeling sure that he will render to you as good service as I have endeavored to deliver and in many ways surpass me. And it is with real affection for you, as a reading public, and a genuine tenderness of feeling, that I say, goodbye!

WALTER GREEP.

So the County administration is going to give the people a financial statement? Really! The Hartford Republican, the constant apologist for administrative inertia, reminds us that we should brush up on the times, and in disparaging our ignorance, suavity and gravely puts us to shame for our failure to appreciate the efforts of the court in doing what it was driven to do by popular disgust and indignation. Most of the County's administrative work is done behind the door and so we must be pardoned for not finding this out sooner. But we really are glad the court has decided to give the people a chance to see their own bank book, however poorly it balances.

The calling of the Labor and Capital congress by President Wilson is significant and promises to be of far reaching effect. By bringing capital and labor together, a settlement can be made which will be lasting.

The earnest admonition of a fool sometimes saves a life where the more philosophic precepts of the wiseman could not enter.

As an example of man's inconsistency, Labor Day is proclaimed a day of rest.

ADJUDGED INSANE

Today, September 1st, Eva J. Embry, wife of L. L. Embry, of Balzertown, was brought here, and after examination by Drs. Taylor and Ford, and a court of enquiry, was adjudged to be of unsound mind and ordered transferred to a medical institution for treatment.

The above Eva Embry has been affected for the past several years but has been treated at home with no relief except temporary. The climax of her disease was reached a few days ago when her neighbors began to circulate reports of unbecoming conduct. We hope this will be a lesson to people of every community to know the mental condition of their neighbors before expressing an opinion that would reflect and cast a gloom on innocent children and near relatives.

COMEDIANS OF OLD GREECE

Statues Found in Tombs Show That Funmakers Were Much Like Those Applauded Today.

The finding of some statues in an ancient Greek tomb is an opportunity for comparing the comedians of old times with those of today. The statues are believed to date back to the fourth century B. C. They are quite small—in fact, few of them measure more than six inches in height—but owing to the careful modeling they are still quite lifelike in spite of their extreme age. These little figures represent the funny men of that time, and it is curious to note the resemblance to the oddities of Charlie Chaplin.

One associates flowing robes and stately walk with the Greek actors, but these players are shown wearing short trousers and, with an obvious caricature of a stately gait. Nothing was sacred from these comedians; even the greatest men of the day were subjects for their wit, which they carried to extremes. A good example of this is a statue of one of the funny men as Hercules, who was universally admired and venerated in ancient Greece. He is shown wearing his leopard skin lightly over one shoulder, with his finger in his mouth, looking coquettishly round him.

The costumes of these little figures must have been brilliant; there are still faint traces of pink and yellow on the terra-cotta of which the statues were made.

FOOD SUPPLIES IN COMMON

No Eskimo Allowed to Go Hungry While His More Fortunate Brothers Have Plenty.

The arctic explorer, Dr. Donald B. MacMillan, who returned recently after four years spent in the arctic regions, has many interesting things to say about the domestic and social customs of the Eskimo.

All property is owned in common, he tells us. When you enter a village you are not invited to come in. It is your right to enter and, if you are hungry, to help yourself to something to eat. If you happen to visit a house where a poor hunter lives, he says, "Nurket-turunge (Nothing to eat)." He does not go hungry, however, because his neighbors have some, and he lives on his neighbors. Everything is divided up that way. If all the villagers are good hunters, their supplies last a long time, but if some are poor hunters, the clever fellow must share with them.

An Eskimo does not eat three meals a day and sleep at regular intervals. He eats when he is hungry, and sleeps when he is sleepy, and he puts it off as long as he can, so that he will enjoy it all the more. He will go around for six hours talking about how hungry he is, and then he will set to work and eat all he can. It is the same way with sleeping. He will go without sleep for 48 hours, and when he cannot keep his eyes open any longer he turns in for a 24-hour snooze.—Youth's Companion.

London's Sea Gull Visitors

London's winter visitors, the sea gulls, have arrived particularly early this year. Never since the hard winter of 1895 first impelled them high up the river, and into hitherto unknown regions of parks and private gardens, have the birds omitted to make their yearly call to the Serpentine and Kensington gardens' round pond. On the river, of course, the gulls, single or in flights, have been regular inmates for many years, perhaps centuries. Feeding the gulls from the bridges is a favorite occupation for many a Londoner, or rather it used to be, for now the feeding of birds is forbidden, on the ground of waste, by the defense of the realm regulations. The gulls will have to shift for themselves this winter, and Londoners' reputation for hospitality will suffer accordingly in the bird world.—Christian Science Monitor.

Beaten To It

"Germany, confessing her wickedness and protesting her repentance, reminds me of a rascally fortune hunter," said the director of military aeronautics, General Kenly.

"This fortune hunter was describing his pursuit of a Pittsburgh heiress."

"In proposing," said his listener, "you ought to have told her, George, that you were unworthy of her. That bait seldom fails."

"The fortune hunter gave a gloomy laugh."

"Yes, I was going to tell her that," he said, "but she told it to me first."

Tough on the Private

Having heard that our soldiers in France lack soap, a Portland (Me.) girl sent to a sergeant major of the Fifty-fourth a package of soap leaves, and received in due time a letter from the sergeant major in which he expressed surprise that the girl hadn't remembered that he never smoked. He added that he had given the packet to a private who "rolls his own," and the private liked to have died of nausea.

Largest French Port

Marseilles has at present in the vicinity of 1,000,000 inhabitants, and it is the largest port in France, as well as one of the wealthiest industrial and commercial centers. It is a distributing market for numerous products required in southeastern France and the French African colonies, but in the case of toys Paris controls the trade.

FRENCH TREATY

IS HELD LEGAL

Advisers of Upper Body Report Treaty Is Valid In Every Phase

Germany Still Is Peril

Washington, Sept. 2.—There are so constitutional obstacles to the making of the treaty for defense of France, as proposed by President Wilson, according to a report by a special sub-committee of Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate.

This is the committee which advises the Senate on legal and constitutional questions. The treaty is the one under which the United States pledge itself to go to the support of France in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany.

Furthermore, the committee declares that though Germany is beaten for the present, "nothing but force is likely to restrain her from seeking world dominatin at the earliest opportunity," and adds that "aside from England, no country under present conditions is more vitally interested in preserving the integrity of France than is our own."

Text of Report

The text of the subcommittee's report on these points follows:

"It is evident that Germany in the recent war aimed at crippling and the destruction of France, our ally. Our country entered into the war on the primary and technical grounds that Germany had invaded, attacked and partly destroyed our commerce on the high seas, and had sought to sever our commercial intercourse with both France and England, as well as with other portions of Europe.

"The menace came from Germany and it was a continuing menace. To remove that menace, both for the present and the future, it became necessary for our country to co-operate with France, as well as England, in the great struggle. Without their aid we could not by ourselves have vanquished Germany. It was, moreover, evident that if France and England were destroyed or seriously crippled, Germany would have a free hand against our country and our commerce and we would be to a greater or less extent at her mercy.

"While Germany has been vanquished, she is still, by reason of her great resources, her large population and her military and imperialistic spirit, liable to be a menace in the future, for nothing but force is likely to restrain her from seeking world dominion at the earliest opportunity. Compared with France, her losses in the war were moderate.

French Losses Greatest
France, with a population of little more than half of Germany, lost in killed over 1,200,000 of her population and in crippled and wounded more than twice that number. One-fifth of her territory and that the most valuable part, was devastated and reduced to a wilderness by German armies. She incurred a debt so large as to strain her credit to the utmost and to make it a most serious problem to liquidate the same.

In resources and in man power Germany is nearly double that of France and if left free and untrammelled, in the unrepentant mood she seems to be in, she could, in the near future, easily overrun and cripple, if not destroy, France. It is for the interest of our country that France should be allowed to recuperate and recover her old time vigor, for she will then be a great shield and protection to us against the German menace in the future, and, besides, she will be a great source of profitable commercial intercourse.

"Aside from England, no country under present conditions is more vitally interested in preserving the integrity of France than is our own country. What we propose to do for France by the proposed treaty, England also is ready to undertake."

The subcommittee report adopts the general argument which is made by Senator Walsh, Montana, and Nelson, and Kellogg, Minnesota. Other members of the committee are Senator Fall, Republican; Bensonhurst, Democrat; and North Carolina, Democrat.

MR. FARMER KNOWS A THING OR TWO

Lambasting the pickers, railing at the middlemen, and exhorting the general if not always popular, pastime in these days of excessive costs of eating. And while all this is taking place attention is distracted from a figure standing on the side lines and alternately cheering and indulging in a well-warranted laugh at the manner in which he is made the warring factors. This is the producer, who in the general melee manages to get at least a portion of his share of the proceeds.

Time was when one could drive into the country and pick up a load of farm products at a material saving over what was exacted for them in town. Wellers in urban communities were proper objects of envy on the part of less fortunate cityites. Now all is changed. The producer in touch with a dealer in town, who furnishes the current figures. There is no haggling. It is a case of take or leave, for there will be other purchasers, because the producer no longer suffers from the isolation that existed prior to the coming of the automobile, the motor truck, good roads, rural free delivery, the daily newspaper and other agencies of like value to him.

Your agriculturist can quote the market prices of the day before in every large center in his part of the country with a faculty that would make a commission merchant envious. And he gets those prices. He is his own middleman and retailer when it comes to dealing with the individual.

In common with everybody else, the producer of foodstuffs is entitled to all he can get for his wares. But the facts, in the case, which can easily be established by anyone who has any doubts, give rise to the belief that as against the ultimate consumer the producer is not so sorely oppressed as some of his class would have us believe. Also, the very facilities for keeping in touch with the outside world that have emancipated the agriculturist render it just that much harder for the wage-earner to make both ends meet.

MEN IN AMERICAN UNIFORM HOLD UP PARISIAN BAR

Paris, August, 30.—Six men wearing the American navy uniforms carried out a spectacular holdup last night in a bar room run by a famous French clown. Footit, on Montaigne street. The men entered the bar and five of them lined up the customers against the walls and rifled their pockets. Meanwhile the other men rifled the till, taking 10,000 francs. Footit's watch and diamond ring. Footit broke a bottle over the head of one marauder who, however, apparently was not injured. The men escaped.

HIDES JUMP FROM $2.50 TO $25 EACH

Winchester, Kan., August 30.—The lowly cow hide in the "good old days" used to bring the farmer about $2.50, when he sold it after killing his own "beef."

Now a local dealer received an offer of 45 cents a pound for his hides—green at that—on the rack here. This is an average of $20 to $25 per hide.

When this became known there was a general rush to buy before there was another increase in price.

NATURE'S MIRROR

When a woman is well and healthy—there's a sparkle in her eyes, a rose tint in her cheeks, and she has rich red blood. There's elasticity in every movement and a spring in her step. Love comes to every woman who has bounding health—but when she is pallid, dull eyed, languid, she has no magnetism nor does she appeal to any man.

Such a change in feelings and looks!

After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged down by weaknesses of her eyes with eyes sunken, black circles and pale cheeks—such a woman is quickly restored to health by the favorite prescription of Dr. Pierce. Changed, too, in looks, for after taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the skin becomes clear, the eyes brighter, the cheeks plump. It is purely vegetable, contains no alcohol.

Druggists sell it in tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

I AM GLAD TO ENDORSE PE-RU-NA

Had to Try Anything
When I was a child and my father was a terribly run down man, I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and I was glad to try anything which would relieve me. Peru-na was recommended to me as a blood purifier and I took it. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble. I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peru-na. I am glad to endorse it.

SINGING AT BETHEL

The singing convention of the eastern Division of Ohio County met at Bethel church, near Horton, Sunday. An immense crowd was present and many choirs participated in the exercise. We do not know who led the others and captured the honors, not do we know who was adjudged the best, but from our viewpoint, all were good. This was the first meeting of the kind we ever attended and he trusts it will not be the last. The whole day was pleasant, the dinner, served in old-fashioned country picnic style, was "scrumptious," the singing was above the average and the meeting and mingling of people from the different sections of the county made it a delightful social affair. May there be many another singing convention and may we attend them all!
